WRITING Three Short Statements COULD CHANGE YOUR LIFE FOREVER!

01

Life Purpose

There's a reason you're here. What is it? What's the Purpose for your life? This is the foundation under everything else.

+ 02

Mission

What will you do with your life. Combine, signature strengths, skills, abilities, aptitudes, desire & decide.

+ 03

Vision

Now that you know who you are (purpose) and what you'll do (mission) where will you go with that in the future?

= { ALL TOGETHER NOW

These three questions need to be answered close enough to each other in order to be both distinct and integrated. }

THREE BIG QUESTIONS BOOK

Can you imagine living a life where everything you are and everything you do propels you toward your own mountaintop? Where career, family and personal goals all operate in sync so that you can live the life you were designed to live... right now!

Three Big Questions that everyone asks sooner or later is the roadmap that will take you to the peaks of your professional and personal life. This little book and the delivery option of your choice has been shared with business leaders and CEOs for many years, leading them to the clarity of vision that transforms careers from "making a living" to "making a life".

Author Dave Phillips is a world-class freestyle skier and former member and coach of Canada's National Freestyle Ski Team. He has broken two duration ski records in the Guinness Book of World Records. He has performed in professional ski shows and also as a stuntman for movies and television. He is now an Executive Mentor and experienced YPO resource having spoken at chapter events and forum retreats throughout North America for over a decade. Over the past 25 years Dave has run several business and sat on boards of various private and public companies.

While flying over the slopes and staring down couloirs all over the world, Dave discovered his unique strategy of purposeful living. According to Dave, "purpose leads ordinary people to accomplish extraordinary things. Men and women from every walk of life eventually come to the place where they recognize their own need for purpose and meaning and find it to be at the core of their future motivation."

That's why the Three Big Questions book and retreats lead participants through a process of discovery to determine a purpose for their lives, a mission to carry out that purpose and a vision propelling them to an energizing future. However, the real success of Three Big Questions comes from its unique strategy using practical step-by-step exercises and worksheets providing a simple but direct process while encouraging readers to develop their own purposeful strategies that transcend living for the self. Participants will actively integrate "who they are" with "how they live" and what they want for the future.
